

Second Interview questions for household duties:

Start by telling the person that they will be recorded for investigation purposes, that any information will only be used for this investigation.

Let them say their name, age and what they do. The interview is about house chores and how time consuming it is for people, and we want to understand deeply what part of what chore is the one that people really don't like doing

How do you typically stay on top of your household tasks and responsibilities? Do you use any tools or apps to help you manage your schedule or keep track of your tasks?

How do you manage to balance your house chores with other responsibilities such as work, family obligations, or social activities?

Have you ever felt like you needed more support or assistance with your household tasks (a person or a robot)? If so, what did you do to address this need?

What are some of the most frustrating aspects of keeping your home clean and organized?

What are the biggest challenges you face when it comes to managing your household tasks and responsibilities?

What are some of the most time-consuming house chores that you find particularly exhausting?

Are there any house chores that you absolutely hate doing? If so, why? (Whichever they say they hate) Ask why again (IMPORTANT)

Why is that house chore so daunting? What specifically makes you dislike it?

(Examples of questions for cleaning) What place specifically you don't like cleaning? Why that place? does it change how you clean the place?

(Examples of questions for cooking) What part of the cooking process do you dislike? Why that part? Is it every time?

What are the most common mistakes (or bad habits if they don't understand) that people make when it comes to house chores? How do you avoid making these mistakes yourself? (interesting)

If we had some tips for you about how to make that chore you dislike faster, would you want it? would you maybe pay?

Finally, what advice would you give to someone who is struggling to keep up with their household tasks and responsibilities? How can they overcome the inconvenience and create a more manageable routine?
